Biology Class Collects Enough Sea Specimens to Have Exhibit

Biology classes at St. Matthew Lutheran Church school has not only created high interest among students in the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades but has furnished enough sea specimens for an exhibit. An open house will be held at the school Feb. 3, according to Principal J. T. Ledbetter, who teaches the classes and conducts field museum trips.

After a paper drive raised enough money for the class to purchase a marine aquarium, live specimens have been added to the collection of sea and beach objects gathered.

A seahorse, two octopi, hermit crabs and many other shell fish and marine life have been taken from area beaches and shallow waters. These classes have visited many museums including Cabrillo and Scripps. Older boys have added skin diving to their field trips and under their instructor's guidance have been able to explore underwater rocks for other specimens.

Unemployment Appeals Board Referees Sought

Immediate opportunity for qualified applicants to obtain temporary employment in the Los Angeles Metropolitan area as referees for the California Unemployment Insurance Appeals was announced by Murray Love, manager of the Torrance Local Office of the Department of Employment.

The principal duty of the referee is to conduct quasi-judicial hearings and make decisions on appeals under the unemployment insurance and disability insurance taxing and benefit provisions of the California Unemployment Insurance Code.

PERSONS employed on a temporary basis will have the opportunity to obtain permanent employment through examination by the State Personnel Board. Applicants interested in permanent or temporary appointments as future openings occur throughout California may qualify through the same examination.

This examination will be given on Feb. 18, 1961, and the final filing date for the examination is Jan. 27, 1961.

BEGINNING salary for both permanent and temporary appointees is $862 a month, with annual increases for four years to a maximum of $1048 a month. California residence is not a requirement for appointment. Basic requirements for qualifying are either five years
